

The Con Edison Micromobility Make-Ready Program Participating Contractor List is provided as an informational source only. It contains the names and contact information of contractors who have contacted Con Edison and represented themselves as qualified to perform the services for each program they are listed under. Con Edison has not independently verified these qualifications. The Participating Contractor List is provided as a service and is not an endorsement, promotion, recommendation, or approval, either express or implied, of any of the Participating Contractors listed thereon. Con Edison makes no representations about the experience or qualifications of any Participating Contractor listed or the quality of their work. It is the customer's responsibility to investigate the technical capabilities and reliability of any Participating Contractor on the list, check appropriate references, or confirm that the Participating Contractor they select is currently licensed and in good standing in New York, prior to entering into a contract for services with any Participating Contractor. Customers agree that the selection of any Participating Contractor on the list is completely voluntary and made without any promise or guarantee. This list is not intended to be an all-inclusive list of Participating Contractors.
